

Veterans Fellowship Program

Are you transitioning out of the Military? Prepared to enter civilian employment? The Port of Seattle has opportunities to assist in your transition!

VETERANS FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM

The Port of Seattle's program assists veterans transitioning from active duty to refine the skills and abilities necessary for civilian employment.

Military veterans bring dedication and a work ethic reflective of the training and experiences they've acquired, yet may benefit from guidance and career assistance to successfully transfer their military experience into the civilian environment.

HOW THE VETERANS FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM WORKS:

Through a short-term (six-month) program with the Port of Seattle, veterans will receive individualized career assistance in the following areas:

- Exposure to civilian work environment.
- Exposure to corporate business practices.
- Identification of transferable skills.
- Assistance with resume writing and interviewing assistance.

Each candidate will receive pay commensurate with the work they perform. Basic benefits will also be provided.

BENEFITS TO VETERANS:

Following a six-month fellowship, veterans will have developed the following:

- An awareness of critical, core skills necessary for success in civilian employment.
- An increased self-awareness of their skills and aptitudes and how these will contribute to their future success.
- An understanding of the differences in work environments between military and civilian work.
- A direction for future career options.

To learn more or to apply for a Veterans Fellowship or other employment opportunities, visit the Port of Seattle's web site:
www.portseattle.org/about/employment

CONTACTS:

Leonora Palaña
206.787.3104

Gary Buchanan
206.787.7248

Tammy Woodard
206.787.3277

Port Commission –
Bill Bryant, John Creighton,
Patricia Davis, Lloyd Hara,
and Gael Tarleton

Chief Executive Officer –
Tay Yoshitani