Test prep classes save Sea-Tac employers time and money by ensuring that employees understand critical security concepts AND pass SIDA and AOA tests the first time.

Students with limited English learn:

- important information about citations: instructor reviews each citation to assure that employees have a clear understanding of security violations and citations
- basic concepts: escort procedures, using the badge to open, pass through and close a secure door in the correct way, how to challenge and respond to a challenge, examples of improper use of badge and security violations
- how to use the computer to complete tests; this is especially helpful for employees who are from countries where computers are not widely used.
- important test vocabulary: piggybacking, challenging, sterile area, etc.
