The central Puget Sound region is booming

- 3.7 million people in 2010
- 4.1 million people in 2018
Jobs and a strong economy generate growth

- 1.9 million jobs in 2010
- 2.3 million jobs by 2018
Aviation demand – SeaTac passenger volumes

- 32.8 million passengers in 2011
- 46.9 million passengers in 2017
PSRC’s role in the region
Getting ready for 2050

- 5.8 million people
- 4.1 million people
- 3.4 million jobs
- 2.3 million jobs
29 airports in the central Puget Sound region

- 3 commercial service and air cargo airports (SEA, BFI, and PAE)
- 3 industrial airports supporting aerospace manufacturing
- 5 seaplane bases
- 2 military airports
- Multiple general aviation facilities
Air passenger service – SeaTac
Air passenger service – Paine Field
Air cargo
Aerospace manufacturing – Boeing Field
Aerospace manufacturing – Paine Field
Aerospace manufacturing – Renton
Military needs – Joint Base Lewis-McChord
Military needs – Naval Air Station Whidbey Island
Regional Aviation Baseline Study

- Build off of master planning efforts at the region’s airports
- Along with demand and capacity analysis, provide community perspectives
- Not a siting study!
- Prepare regional and state leaders for the next phase of planning
- Study overseen by PSRC’s Executive Board