

APRIL 24: COVID-19 UPDATE

This weekly update summarizes actions by the Port of Seattle and its partners to maintain community health, safety, and wellbeing while continuing to carry out our mission. Please bookmark our website and check social media channels daily.

IN CASE YOU MISSED IT:

- Official March data shows passenger traffic was down 56 percent at Seattle-Tacoma International Airport. Air cargo was up nearly four percent in Q1 2020, reflecting the essential nature of an airport's role in supporting the economy's supply chains for products from medical supplies to food and ecommerce.
- The Port partnered with the Fair Work Center and Port Jobs to facilitate webinars, trainings, and information opportunities for impacted airport tenants and small business partners to understand and take advantage of resources provided by the federal CARES act as well as state and local opportunities. ## Actions and protocols at Port of Seattle facilities

AT SEATTLE-TACOMA INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT (SEA)

- SEA is open and operating, but it is not business as usual right now. See how SEA maintains essential cargo operations during COVID-19.
- People are traveling less. Passenger volumes have declined 90-95%. Overall daily flights are down by two-thirds compared to normal operations. Airlines flying domestic routes significantly reduced flights across networks. Airlines suspended and reduced international flights, totaling 684 cancelled international flights in April, 210 in May and 175 in June.
- SEA was awarded $192M in grant funding from the U.S. Department of Transportation as part of the CARES Act to offset financial damage due to the unexpected drop in air travel and to limit the spread of COVID-19. Our airport team is working to complete a utilization plan for the grants. The grants can be used to fund operations and maintenance as well as debt relief, with the requirement of maintaining 90 percent of the previous employment levels. This will allow SEA to continue operations, such as utilities, security and janitorial services, for essential passenger traffic and continued critical cargo operations.

- Some restaurants are open with reduced operating hours and food service only for grab-and-go and orders to go. Latest blog on dining and retail adjustments. Explore how to support local businesses at the airport without traveling.
- We update this SEA operations status page when Port or airport employees who work directly with the public are confirmed to test positive for COVID-19.

AT MARITIME FACILITIES

- The 2020 cruise season is indefinitely suspended until the resolution of the public health emergency. Read the press release. The decision to delay the launch of the 2020 cruise season came after reviewing multiple options with our cruise operators, the United States Coast Guard, public health authorities, and local leaders.
- The Northwest Seaport Alliance total container volumes dropped 21.6% in March 2020, compared to March 2019. Full imports declined 28.2% while full exports decreased 8.6% year over year. Read more.
- Some business at Fishermen's Terminal are open and operating under proper protocols while the North Pacific Fishing Fleet prepares for the fishing season. Amid social distancing, here is how you can support local business at Fishermen's Terminal.
- Shilshole Bay Marina has implemented the following measures to support the "Stay Home, Stay Healthy" emergency order: Continuing twice-daily cleanings of all public areas, Closing public access to the A-Pier and X Dock, Placing partial restrictions on access to the parking lot, Controlling pedestrian access and closing public restrooms at the SBM promenade, Limiting access to picnic tables and benches along the pedestrian thoroughfare. Non-liveaboard moorage customers should only visit the SBM if your trip is essential.

FOR EMPLOYEES AND COMMUNITY PARTNERS

- Need answers on small business relief? The Port has collaborated with regional partners to offer free webinars about small business relief options. Register and learn more at our website.
- Explore this blog post on how the federal CARES Act will benefit our region.
- Port of Seattle Commission meetings will be held virtually until the public health crisis subsides.
- Only "essential" workers are permitted onsite, which are employees performing work to maintain our core functions. This designation as "essential" is only related to critical operations during this public health emergency.
- Coordinating regional emergency response with the state, county, city, and other leaders.

HOW YOU CAN STAY HEALTHY

- Governor Inslee's "Stay Home, Stay Healthy" order is in effect. It is important we lean into the Governor's order to achieve its societal benefits of flattening the curve of the number of people that are infected with COVID-19.
- On April 3, 2020 the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) offered a new recommendation that people living in areas with significant community-based spread of COVID-19, such as King County, voluntarily wear a cloth face covering when they are in a public setting where maintaining a physical distance of six feet away from others may be difficult.
