The Port of Seattle’s mission is to promote economic opportunities and quality of life in the region by advancing trade, travel, commerce, and job creation in an equitable, accountable, and environmentally responsible manner.

The Port of Seattle’s investments make travel and trade more efficient, expand community-based economic development and environmental programs, and reduce our own environmental impact. Unique and strategic investments by the Port make our region more competitive, more economically resilient, and better connected to markets near and far.

PORT FUNDING

The Port of Seattle is primarily funded by fees, bond proceeds, and operating revenue. Funds from King County’s property tax levy makes up just 4.1 percent of Port funds. The airport is primarily self-funded and not supported by taxpayer dollars. Capital projects make up the largest share of the Port’s expenditures. As a financially responsible institution, the Port plans to invest $726.8 million on capital improvement projects in 2023 and $5.3 billion over the next five years.

In the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic, the Port is focused on maintaining our operations while adjusting to high inflation, changes in the labor market, and the impacts of climate change. The Port is charged with stewarding public assets that provide services that businesses and consumers rely on every day and support economic activity. We are just as committed to ensuring the public benefits of our operations by constantly investing in the equity, sustainability and vibrancy of our region and its residents.
